The concept of the tour is to make a comprehensive effort to provide effective, significant and appropriate comedy from an Islamic perspective, which is both mainstream and cross-cultural. The idea is to provide an atmosphere whereby Muslims and non-Muslims can feel safe, relevant and inclusive through an experience where humour is used to bridge gaps of bias, intolerance, and other social ills that are pre and post 9/11 relevant.

"The growing appetite for the group's brand of humour is reflected in the near-sell-out 10-day UK tour, with another planned for the end of the year, as well as a film project in the US."
The Independent

"...they proved that 'Muslim comedy' is not some far-fetched notion. The people who laughed in their seats can attest to that."
BBC

"It's surely no overstatement to claim the world needs this tour."
